

THE SOCIETY OF POPULATION ECOLOGY

The Society of Population Ecology was founded in the spring of 1961 for the purpose of promoting and fostering the study of population ecology. It does so by publishing Population Ecology four times a year, and by holding an annual meeting which includes symposia and discussions on subjects of current interest.

Membership in the Society is open to all who are interested in population ecology and wish to subscribe Population Ecology. All correspondence regarding membership should be addressed to: The Society of Population Ecology, c/o Dogura & Co. Ltd., 1-8 Koyama-Nishihanaike-Cho, Kita-Ku, Kyoto 603-8148, Japan
